& ORIGINAL SERIAL STORY FROM THE PEN OF RIDER HAGGARD

Author of "King Solomon's Mines." "Allan Quartermain." "She." "Jess," &c., &c. The Proprietors of this Journal are pleased to announce that they have, at a very considerable outlay, made arrangements with H. RIDER 27!

HAGGARD-the Author of the most popular and dramatic Stories of our day-by which their Readers will enjoy precedent perusal of a new and unpublished manuscript Story from his pen. The Title of RIDER HAGGARD'S.

New Story is COLONEL QUARITCH, V.C. And the Opening Chapters appeared in THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS

OF SATURDAY, 21st JULY.

In this dramatic work, the author of "She makes a new departure. Instead of placing his characters in lands remote from civilization and subjecting them to influences of the most remarkable and unprecedented hature, he has here written an English treasure story of the present day. The hero is a soldier in the British army a wearer of the Victoria Cross, who returns home from the recent operations in the Soudan, to exchange the perils and privations of warfare in the desert for a series of sensational incidents among pleasant English landscapes, and the ultimate reward of an ancestral home brightened by the beauty of a comely bride. The plot is well contrived, there is strong individualisation in the characters; the scenes are depicted with clearness and a warm glow of local colour, while the main incidents are worked out with power. Not even in "King Solomon's Mines," when entrance is effected into the mysterious chamber. is the thrill greater than when Colonel Quaritch unearths the tressure, hidden away from Cromwell's soldiers, the recovery of which saves an ancient house from ruin.

Next follows a description of Tonquin, its government and productions; then some brief observations on the Red River as a waterway: then a lament on the present state of commerce in Tonquin; and of its budget. "Were Tonquin in English hands she would soon not merely cover her expenses. but would be speedily reimbursing by annual instalments the sums spent on her." He declares

The remainder of the link is taken up with the Notes of Bishop Paginier, with suggestions as to the proper way to restore the country to prosperity (these usually take the form of John Company), with a criticism on the questions of the retention of Tononin (which course the author firmly insists on) and of its union with Annam and Cochin China (which he objects to strongly), and also, it must be said with the claims to compensation personally due to MM. Dupuis and Millot. Certainly the plack and patriotism shown by these pioneers of French commerce deserved a botter fate than beggary and appersion: but incidentally we learn that their fate was better. M. Millet has the Legion of Honour, M. Dupius the Delaland-Guérineau prize; both the applause of a large section of their countrymen, and, we have little hesitation in saying, of most residents in the Far East; and as for more tangible compensation, M. Dupuis has received the concession of 20,000 heotares in the island of Kébao, which, as we know, a strong company is about to exploit both as regards its mines, its forests, and its agriculture." So M. Dunnis will not, we trust, be so very badly off, and we hope that his pleasant and vivacious comrade may fare equally well.

She sang the seguidilla prettily, though, and at the end of the act, as indeed each time the curtain fell received a startling quantity of bouquets from kind friends in front. Later on she fairly carned her honours, for in addition to revealing an unasually intelligent conception of the character. she sang the duet with Jose exceedingly well and threw genuine dramatic feeling into the scene with the cards. Altogether it was a performance in which evidence of ability and still more promiso was apparent. De Lussan received warm encouragement from a large audience and her subsequent appearances will be awaited with interest.

NEW YORK. 10th July. The British steamer Tyrian of Glasgow arrived at Philadelphia from Fort Antonio yesterand the sky was clear. Suddenly and without warning the fore part of the Tyrian was lifted high out of the water, while her taffrail went down to the very surface of the sea: then, almost as soon as those on board realized that something was wrong, the vessel settled down again. A second fierce blow was dealt her from the depths below some ten seconds after the first shock. This, like the full force of the upheaval of the waters, struck the vessel aft, and amidships. The sorew; high out of the water, raced furiously, and the steamship gave a big lurch to starboard as she sottled down again.

At the first shock the firemen threw down their shovels and made for the ladders. The second blow struck as the firemen reached the deck, and fully convinced them that they were on the rocks. The firemen and the watch on deck-made-a-rush-for the side and peered over into the darkness in full expectation of seeing the foam breaking over the treacherons rocks. "Lower away the boats!" sang out one man in a voice of terror. The words were hardly uttered before a third shock came, and confusion eigned on board. "There's nothing wrong, lads," cried Officer McCarty from the bridge. "It's only an earthmake and I reckon that the last shake she gave us will be the last of it." The steamer was sixty miles south-east of Cape

The report by the Committee on Woman's Work recommended that the time had come to organize everywhere the enrollment of women as deaceness and to assist in the service of the church. While such women should give their whole time to the work they should be free to retire at any time they chose.

The Queen has consented to the publication of and 4,726 packages merchandise. the Prince Consort's correspondence with his brother, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, on condition that passages relating to private and personal matters shall be excised. It is understood that the proof-sheets of the letters are to be submitted to Her Majesty for her revision. Prince Albert kept up a regular correspondence with his brother and with the late Emperor William, then Prince of Prussis; and if all his letters could be published, his reputation for political sagacity and prescience would stand even higher than it does at present.

A colobrated London medical authority writes: 'I think very few of the English public nor indeed of the cooks who ester for the public at restaurants, &c., know how excellent a result is attainable in the form of 'aspic' by the proper use of 'Liebig's Extract' The summer season is essentially the time for consuming it. Nothing is more tempting in appearance, in flavour and in coolness than aspic jully as the medium in which little cold fillets of all kinds-fish, fowl, game, lamb, lobster, &c.—may be served as well as salads. 'Nelson's Gelatine' is the basis, 'Liebig' to colour and give the meat quality and body, a little Tarragon vinegar and Worcester sauce to flavour, and a little lemon juice, giving at a ridiculously small cost a perfeet aspic jelly."-Lady's Pictorial.

An apparatus has been introduced in the Standard Theatre, of New York, which in a very simple way solves the problem of securing a cool auditorium in summer. A fan is placed in the basement which draws air from outside the building and delivers it through the furnace pipes and registers to various parts of the audidrawn over ice arranged on shelves. This cools it so that a temperature of 70 deg. is easily attainable. While the fan situated in the basement is delivering cool air, a second fan on the roof exhausts air from the interior, thus maintaining a constant change of atmosphere. The arrangement in utilising the farnace connections, and in general detail, is remarkably simple, such as hospitals, where coolness is all important. For a single evening's work about two Straits Fire Insurance Company, Limitedtons of ice are expended.

During a recent cruise of the United States man-of-war Michigan a sailor, who is a Chicago man, attempted to throw an exhausted quid of tobacco over the rall into the water. His aim touch it, but ordered the entire crew to rig up a gun tackle. The gun tackle is a hawser 31 inches thick, and weighs 2,500 lbs. Being seldom, if ever used, it was stowed away in the hold and covered up. To get it on deck and rig it up is a long, hard task. But the gun tackle was rigged up, and the commanding officer attached to it a silk thread. He made a Bernhardt plays Romeo to Mrs. James Brown Potter's Julliet in Paris next year, so the grande loop in the thread, lassed the quid of tobacco, made it fast, all hands made a long pull and a strong pull, and the quid of tobacco was heisted overboard. Then the gun tackle was taken down and stowed away in the hold: It required eleven hours of hard work to get the quid overboard, and it is the opinion of the command. ing officer that no more quids of tobacco will be thrown on the deck of the Michigan for some time to come.

With Christine Nilsson retired from the stage and Patti asking such terms that Europe can scarcely afford to pay them to her, it is good news to hear that a new prima donna has been discovered. M.
